

LIBERTY LOAN WILL BE MADE IN APRIL

Short Term Notes May Be Issued Instead of Long Term Bonds If Deemed Advisable.

TO MAKE POPULAR CAMPAIGN

Needs of the Treasury will Require Big Loan Regardless of the Form It May Take.

A telegram stating that there is a "general rumor" that short term notes will be issued by the government this spring instead of the authorized Liberty Bonds, was received today by W. M. Whitson, president of the Seymour National Bank. The telegram did not propose to give authentic and official information but was designed to keep the local bank informed as to the current rumors. There has been considerable discussion relative to the plan that will be followed in floating the next Liberty Loan. It is understood, however, that in case the short term notes are issued instead of bonds, as heretofore, the various banks will be expected to take up their quotas the same as in the Liberty Loan drives.

Because of the general interest in the proposed new loan the following dispatch from Washington which goes into some detail is reprinted:

Short-term notes, maturing in from one to five years may be offered in the forthcoming liberty loan campaign instead of long-term bonds, under a tentative agreement reached by the House Ways and Means Committee to fix the terms of the loan by legislation rather than to give Secretary Glass wide discretionary powers to determine them.

Secretary Glass's statement, issued after announcement of the Ways and Means Committee's action follows:

"The victory liberty loan campaign will begin not later than April 21. The requirements of the Treasury are imperative and cannot be financed without such a campaign. The form and terms of the securities to be issued remain to be determined. Whether they be bonds or notes it is absolutely essential that the widest possible measure of distribution be realized. This will necessitate a campaign of the same character as that conducted in the Entertainment and Get-Together Meeting Approved by Directors at Special Session.

OTHER MATTERS DISCUSSED

Proposal to Alter Several Provisions of By-Laws and Constitution are Considered.

At a special business session of the directors of the Seymour Chamber of Commerce which was held at the offices of the American Mutual Life Insurance Company, Tuesday night, attention was directed to several suggestions made by A. W. McKeand, chairman of the extension department of The Indiana Chamber of Commerce, in a recent address here. Mr. McKeand proposed that several changes be made in the by-laws and constitution of the local Chamber of Commerce in accordance with suggestions which have been framed upon the experience of several organizations in the state. E. F. Maxon proposed that the constitution as written by Albert L. Walters, secretary, be approved without modification.

In the matter of putting the secretary and treasurer under bond it was decided to fix the bond of the secretary at $500 and that of the treasurer at $2,000.

Following a suggestion of A. W. McKeand the board of directors voted unanimously to have the secretary write to the members, enclosing a card for reply asking them to state the three things they believed should be the first undertakings of the Chamber of Commerce. A com-

ONE OF GREAT BRITAIN'S ARMED DIRIGIBLES IN FLIGHT

A British dirigible big enough to carry out long-distance flights, mounting two machine guns and carrying numerous bombs for use against the subs. It was not until hostilities ceased that England divulged the fact that it had mastered the art of dirigible building and had actually created such a large fleet of airships, many of them much larger than the one shown, that there were not enough hangars to hold them.

TOBACCO GROWERS FORM ASSOCIATION

First Organization of the Kind in Jackson County Being Effectuated in Salt Creek Township.

TO INCREASE PRODUCTION

Farmers Believe that Better Marketing Conditions Can Be Secured for This Locality.

At the instigation and promotion of leading tobacco growers of Salt Creek township, Herbert Carpenter and the Gorgett brothers the tobacco producers of that township are organizing a Tobacco Growers' Association to promote and increase the tobacco acreage in that vicinity. Last year these men averaged $360 per acre on their tobacco crops and it is believed that with a good organization that can insure immediate shipment of tobacco with no danger on a "tied" market the acreage in Salt Creek township can be greatly increased.

The land in that section of the country is well adapted for tobacco growing.

In the Louisville market last year tobacco grown there sold for as high as 80 cents per pound. Much of the crop grown at the same time was sold in the field at 50 cents a pound. With a good market promised many of the Salt Creek farmers will give more attention to tobacco production.

SEYMOUR FEELS CERTAIN OF VICTORY OVER COLUMBUS

Result of Game Tonight May Give Line on Outcome of District Tournament.

The hardest fought game played in this district will be staged on the Shields high school basketball floor this evening when the local team and the Columbus squad meet for their second game of the season. Both teams are reported to be in the best of trim for the struggle and a lively scene is anticipated. Seymour and Columbus have the strongest teams in this district and the scrap tonight will put Seymour on the same level with Columbus or establish the latter's supremacy. The visiting team is bringing an "all fired" bunch of rooters with it and unless Brigadier General Mackey of the Vocal Cannoners starts right with the "old time pep" that aggregation is going to do something. They have never let an opportunity to raise the roof at a game here pass yet and it is too late for them to begin now.

As for the team itself, Taylor, Crim Fately and a couple of subs or so have played here enough to know every crevice in both floor and ceiling. It is thought that there is a possibility of their absence on next year's team. Without them the Columbus team will look like a stranger in the district. Gearheart, center, is receiving an abnormal amount of display recently. Seymour fans will remember he is the strong point of the Columbus team that James, local center, "embarrassed" so much in the game on the Columbus floor. Prevailing sentiment here seems to indicate that the whole Columbus team is going to be embarrassed within the next few hours.

POINDEXTER ASSAILS WORLD CONSTITUTION

Washington Senator Describes It As a "Frightful Compact" and a "Fatal Covenant."

By United Press.

Washington, February 19.—Senator Poindexter, Washington today attacked the league of nations constitution.

"A frightful compact and a fatal covenant," which will steal away American national sovereignty and make this nation part of a great international soviet was the description of the document given the senate by Poindexter.

He declared that the constitution proposing a world government modeled along the lines of the Russian soviet government. He said that the principal objections to the league of nations plan are:

The surrender by nations of power of determining the side of the army and navy which any member of the league may maintain.

Compulsory arbitration of all questions affecting the vital interests, honor and even the independence of nations.

The surrender by the United States to other members of the league the power vested in congress by the Constitution to regulate commerce with foreign nations in arms and ammunition.

HOUSE COMMITTEE APPROVES M'CRAY ANTI-GERMAN BILL

Measure Providing for Free Text Books Killed—Primary Law Changes are Recommended.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, February 19.—The house educational committee today recommended passage of the Mc-Cray bill abolishing the German language from Indiana grade schools. No change or amendments were made in the bill which passed the senate Monday. The McKinley bill providing for free text books in schools was killed by a house committee report. The Green bill providing for repeal of the state high school inspection law was also killed in the same manner.

The Beardsley-Van Auken bill amending the primary law was recommended for passage in the senate.

The senate passed the McMasters bill, legalizing payments of public money by officials in excess of the appropriations during war times.

The house passed the Kimmel bill broadening the duties of the state fire marshal. The Self bill giving public officials a half holiday on Saturdays was defeated in the house.

With the general appropriation bill introduced in the House by Representative Swain, carrying with it provisions for the moneys allowed the various state institutions, the majority leaders of the legislature today predicted a slight relief from the customary final rush at this session of the legislature.

There remains on the docket of the legislature several important administration measures including the tax bill the highway commission and county unit bills, the Buncan oil inspection measure and several others, including the insurance department measure.

The House passed the Wright "bone dry" bill, prohibiting physicians from writing prescriptions for alcoholic liquors, other than grain alcohol, by a vote of 73 to 24.

DELEGATES HOPE FOR EARLY PEACE

Representatives to World Congress Striving to Secure Settlement by June.

WORK ON PRELIMINARY DRAFT

Belief Expressed That Peace May Be Ready for Discussion When Wilson Returns to Paris.

By United Press.

Paris, February 19.—American, British, French and Italian delegates discussed the program for a preliminary peace today with the intention of having the outline completed soon after President Wilson returns to Paris. Belief was expressed that the pact might be ready for final discussion by the middle of April, when the German delegates will be summoned. The delegates are hopeful of completing the peace settlement by June.

The length to which the sessions will continue after the Germans are called in, is problematical, though the delegates are hopeful of action by the peace settlement by June allowing for delays that possibly may be necessitated by the Germans desiring to refer certain questions to their government.

In the meantime discussion of boundaries, in which the allied powers are concerned, will continue, but it is not necessary that an agreement will have been reached before the preliminary peace is presented.

The committees on responsibility for the war was reported today to be encountering difficulties in considering the case of the former kaiser, as there is no precedent on which to proceed. The question of possible extradition, for instance, necessitates the closest examination. There is no desire to take action that might possibly result in Wilhelm being cast in the role of a martyr.

LOCAL INTEREST SHOWN IN SENATE ROAD BILL

Commissioners Would Be Given Power to Decide on the Public Utility of Highways.

Considerable interest is shown here in Senate Bill 52, which is regarded by some as one of the most important measures before the legislature.

This bill provides that the county commissioners in every county of the state shall decide on the public utility of roads; it makes the county a new unit for issuing bonds and fixes a limit of four per cent. tax on the total assessed valuation of the county.

An amendment has been offered by Senator Beardsley which in effect will require the commissioners of each county to lay out a system of county roads to be built over a period to be determined by the board of county commissioners and that a special election shall be held which will either approve or disapprove the action of the county commissioners and make it impossible for the county commissioners to improve roads with hard surface that have not received a majority of the votes of the county electors on the proposition.

ATTACK MADE UPON FRENCH PREMIER

George Clemenceau is Slightly Wounded in Side as He Enters Motor Car in Front of Home.

CONDITION IS NOT SERIOUS

Assailant is Boy Named Cottin Who is Alleged to be a Well Known Anarchist.

By United Press.

Paris, February 19.—Georges Clemenceau, premier of France, was shot and slightly wounded by a boy named Cottin, as he entered a motor car in front of his residence this morning. His assailant was arrested. "It's nothing," was the "Tiger's" only comment after he was walked back to the house unassisted. The assailant was said to be a well known anarchist.

According to information at noon, the bullet lodged in Clemenceau's back, near the spine, and it was feared the wound was more dangerous than at first announced, especially because of the danger of diabetes developing.

News of the attack on Clemenceau was flashed to President Wilson by wireless. The American peace delegates called at the residence during the day. All conferences were cancelled.

As Clemenceau was seating himself in his limousine, Cottin suddenly sprang forward and fired eight shots from a pistol. Six hit the front of the car. Two penetrated the glass door, one striking the premier on the inner side of the right arm, near the shoulder, inflicting a flesh wound.

A policeman grabbed Cottin, another whose identity is not yet known rushed to Cottin's assistance. A crowd quickly gathered and attacked the two men who were battling with the policeman. Cottin was badly mauled and the policeman was slightly wounded.

A telephone call was sent to Col. House announcing the premier's wound would prevent him from keeping an engagement which he had with House and Foreign Secretary Balfour. The premier's brother said the wound is not serious at present and the only danger would be from possible infection.

Clemenceau as permanent chairman of the peace congress is the biggest figure in Europe at present. "The Tiger" was born in 1841, during the reign of Louis Philippe. He became a fighting republican during Napoleon III's reign.

As a boy he preached republicanism to the peasants about his birthplace in Vendee, southwestern France, which was then a royalist center. He was often greeted with pitchforks.

After studying medicine, Clemenceau went to England and later to the United States where he visited every city of importance and studied American institutions. He speaks English fluently.

Washington, February 19.—Secretary of War Baker sent this message to Premier Clemenceau:

MORE BLUFF.

A dispatch from Weimar yesterday stated that the German cabinet was inclined to refuse an extension of the armistice terms and that its attitude was only changed by the intervention of the political spokesmen. Big talk by Germany might have been given serious consideration two or three years ago, but this is not the time for the German cabinet to be resentful. The attitude that has been taken by Germany recently is annoying and irritating to the allies who are trying to help her.

"The good effect of Germany's political reform is being lost as a result of its irritating attitude towards the rest of the world," comments the St. Louis Globe Democrat. Continuing its discussion of this subject that paper declares:

"The movement to get armistice terms modified, in the interest of the food supply, has taken a form that is certain to annoy the allies. Instead of basing the request on actual needs, the German military delegates impudently told the Allied Armistice Commission that the occupation of German territory was not due to military superiority. Marshal Foch properly declined to answer the request until the objectionable statement was eliminated. But the military delegates deferred a declaration until they could receive instructions from the German Government. Have the Germans forgotten that President Wilson told them plainly, when they begged for peace, that the armistice terms would be imposed by the victors and in such a way as to make resumption of hostilities by Germany impossible? Germany sued for peace and announced in advance that it accepted the points President Wilson made in his speech of January 8, 1918, as modified by subsequent utterances. This included righting the wrong done France in 1871, but Germany still pretends to discuss the representation of Alsace-Lorraine in the German National Assembly and to demand 'self-determination' for those provinces. Its spokesmen profess to see a German humiliation in the obligations of the League of Nations which the victorious allies are voluntarily assuming. Leaders in the National Assembly distort the significance of necessary precautionary measures taken by the Allied Armistice Commission and continually make veiled threats as to what the 70,000,000 German people will do if the action of the Peace Conference is unjust. The German attitude toward the Poles is in direct conflict with German pledges.

"One of the most offensive movements is the 'League of German Men and Women for the Protection of the Person, Freedom and Life of William.' The appeal for organization of this league appears in what is regarded as an organ of the new government. The appeal calls the demands for the trial of the former kaiser 'shameless' and it declares that his execution would be an everlasting disgrace to the German people. It naively suggests that 'former diplomats and other councilors of the emperor are to be induced to place their knowledge of the situation at the disposal' of the league, so that it may be easy to prove completely the innocence of William II. This would doubtless be easier than an international trial. But why this strange solicitude for a kaiser they forced to abdicate or one who fled his country and his countrymen in terror? And why would his punishment or the wrongs done millions of Germans as well as the rest of the world be an everlasting disgrace to the German people? Germany would get better peace terms by making an appearance of contrition, becoming to a country that lost a war of criminal aggression it brought on the world."

HOME GARDENS.

Before many days the garden season will be at hand. The wise gardener is now planning the back lot arrangement and selecting the vegetables that will be grown so that when spring comes there will be no delay. The home garden movement was started as a war measure, but there is no good reason why it should not be continued in time of peace. Doubtless many householders tended gardens during the period of the war because they felt it was their patriotic duty to do so but have become interested in the project and will continue to supply the table in their own homes with small vegetables that can be grown to an advantage.

Hundreds of dollars worth of vegetables were grown in back lot gardens in Seymour last year. The gardeners were surprised at the splendid results with the small amount of daily work. But most of them long ago discovered that it is the persistent work that pays the biggest returns. The garden that receives careful attention one week and is neglected the next cannot be a success.

In this city many advantages are offered the home gardener. The high school agricultural director is on duty throughout the summer and is ready to give assistance or advice. The trouble with too many inexperienced gardeners is that they attempt to grow vegetables on soil that is not adapted for such crops. The agricultural director is prepared to give suggestions along this line and his experience will save failures and will make the summer's undertaking profitable.

With the allies in control of the German munition plants, it does not appear that Germany could make much headway in protesting against an extension of the armistice even if the "political spokesmen" did not speak.

A study of the divorce question leads one to believe that Bolshevism is the fundamental cause although it isn't known by that name.

If a man tears up his neighbor's garden, it is trespass. If a dog tears it up, it is privilege. The loss is the same in both instances.

Soldiers' Letters

Waiting in France.

Corp. Carlos Brown writing to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brown, says:

France,
Jan. 17, 1919.

Dear Mother and Dad:

I would have written sooner but I expected to be on my way home before a letter could reach there. We were all ready to go and fully expected to go but last night orders came in that we were to be assigned to the Motor Transport Corps. We had turned in all our extra clothes and just waiting for traveling orders when word came that we were to take the place of some of the Third regiment and relieve them. I have not the least idea how long it will last, but you can imagine how we all felt about staying here and taking the places of an outfit that had just been over here since July. I expect to go on a furlough in a week or ten days and that will relieve the monotony of the situation for about two weeks. I don't know where I will get to go but I think along the Spanish coast. I will see quite a few sights and will send you some cards from the places I visit. I did not intend to take a furlough but decided different after getting the bad news that we had to stay for a while. I am going to try my best to get to see Clarence if I hear from him again and he is in the same place.

Our Co. and Co. 11 are entitled to wear a Circle with the Lorraine Cross and the letters A. S. on our left sleeve just a little below the shoulder for being up on the Lorraine Front and the Advance Section, the circle is blue and gray with red letters and cross.

In less than a month we will have our second service stripe for serving one year in France.

I am anxious to get out of camp for I have been away only one night since coming to this camp. It will be kind a nice to sleep in a real bed and sleep as long as I want to for about a week.

I got a letter the other day from the little girl that thought so much of me. That was at Abbainville where I was at the time. She told me they were going to move back to their old home at St. Mihiel where the Germans drove them out at the beginning of the war.

I must close now but will try to write more often for I don't expect to get home very soon unless things change.

Take good care of yourselves and give my love to all the rest.
Your son, Carlos.

NEW POTATO DISEASE.

Wart, Appearing in Pennsylvania, May Spread.

Washington, February 19.—Wart, one of the most dangerous diseases of potatoes which has made its appearance in the United States, exists only in a limited section of Pennsylvania, according to the latest information obtained by the United States department of agriculture. The infested territory embraces 27 comparatively small mining towns. But experts of the department have given warning that the infestation may have reached other sections in the same way that it reached the Pennsylvania mining towns, and vigilance is urged to discover and report it, if it does exist elsewhere, as well as to guard against a possible spread of infestation.

The wart disease is thought to have been brought to Pennsylvania in 1912 in potatoes imported from Europe. The potato crop in the United States was short that year, and European potatoes are known to have gone to Pennsylvania and other places over the country where there was demand for a cheap supply. The discovery of the disease in Pennsylvania was made only last year and there is a possibility that it may be present but not yet recognized in other places.

Joseph S. and Ivan C. Morgan, owners of the Austin Canning Co., of Austin, the Little York Canning Co., of Little York, the Leota Canning Co., of Lecta, and the Ohio Valley Canning Co., of Charlestown, have merged all these and will hereafter be known as "The Morgan Packing Co."—Scottsburg Journal.

TIME FOR SEEDING CLOVER IS RAPIDLY APPROACHING

Department of Agriculture Offers
Advice as to Best Manner of Getting Stand.

(Department of Agriculture Bulletin.)

The time for seeding clover is now at hand or rapidly approaching. During the past year, due perhaps in part to the desire to produce larger quantities of grain and in part to the increased price of seed, a smaller acreage than usual was seeded down to grass. Clover seed is higher in price now than it was last year, and there is no reason to expect a reduction this season. Necessary quantities should therefore, be purchased at once if they have not already been secured. In buying, special attention should be paid to quality. A high-priced lot may be cheaper than a low-priced one. For example, if one lot costs $45 a hundred pounds and contains 99 per cent. of pure seed, of which 95 per cent. will grow, there will be 94 pounds of pure viable seed in every hundred. This 94 pounds will therefore, cost 47.8 cents a pound. Another lot selling for a $35 a hundred may contain 90 per cent. of pure seed, of which 80 per cent. will grow. This lot then has 72 pounds of pure viable seed in a hundred pounds, and this 72 pounds will cost the buyer 48.6 cents a pound. On the other hand, a lot costing $40 and containing 95 per cent. of pure seed, of which 90 per cent. will grow, will contain 85.5 pounds of good seed to the hundred, and will cost the consumer 46.7 cents for every pound of good seed. Have the seed tested and be ready to act early and intelligently.

In general, it is well to sow alsike clover mixed with the red clover, a practice which has become very common in recent years. It is much easier to secure a stand of alsike than of red clover, so the admixture of alsike usually insures a partial stand at least. Alsike will make a growth on poor soils where red clover will fail, but it nevertheless appreciates lime and good soil.

On account of the high price of seed it is desirable to economize as far as practicable in the rate of seeding. One pound of red clover contains 250,000 seeds, enough to

Steam Pressing Preserves the Fabric of Woolens

Our method of pressing clothes by steam is such that the fabric of the woolens is preserved, the colors are brightened and the cloth is given a firmness that is found in new materials. It has been proved that proper pressing and cleaning by the right methods adds to the wearing qualities of the cloth. Money that is spent for pressing is well spent. It is economy and at the same time it adds to the appearance of the suit or dress. It is because our methods are so satisfactory that our business is growing by such leaps and bounds. Satisfaction is guaranteed.

Cleaning—Pressing—Dyeing—Repairing.

BELL STEAM WORKS

place 6 seeds on each square foot of an acre; while alsike contains about 700,000 seeds to the pound. Nevertheless, the ordinary rate of seeding for red clover is 8 to 10 pounds an acre and for alsike about 6 pounds. It is evident that the amount of seed necessary to get a stand can be greatly reduced if methods can be used that will insure the survival of a larger percentage of the seedlings. Several methods assist materially in obtaining a stand, particularly in wheat, and the following are recommended:

Sow at the most favorable time as regards soil condition and cover the seed by sowing and then harrowing or by harrowing both before and after sowing, or the clover may be sown with a disk drill. By any one of the methods any injury to the wheat or timothy sown in the wheat is negligible.

If barnyard manure is available it will greatly assist in securing a stand, even when the clover seed has been sown on the snow covering or on the wheat without harrowing. Straw is likewise very useful, but less efficient than manure. Either the manure or the straw assists largely by reducing the alternate puddling and baking of the soil surface and thus protecting the seedlings from destruction.

Mrs. Haley Hughbanks Craig, wife of Professor Lee Craig, was taken to St. Anthony's Hospital Tuesday of last week, where she underwent a surgical operation.—Scottsburg Journal.

BANQUET PLANNED FOR C. C. MEMBERS

mittee is to be appointed to consider these replies and report. The Chamber will then take up those questions that seem to be uppermost in the minds of the members.

The motion was introduced and carried to have a celebration for the splendid growth and accomplishments of the new organization. Mr. Walters was asked to act as chairman of the committee on entertainment and to appoint his members. It was decided that the Chamber would give a banquet for the members, and others interested in affairs of the organization, Thursday evening, February 27, the regular date for the membership meeting.

For the benefit of those who find it impossible to attend the banquet it was suggested that the banquet be given at 6:30 o'clock and the time of the regular business meeting set for 8 o'clock.

In view of the fact that the organization intends holding several such banquets during 1919 it was proposed that the ladies of the various churches be given the opportunity, if they so desired, of furnishing the affair with those palatable substances so vitally necessary to a healthy appetite. Tickets will be sold to defray the expenses but no money will be drawn from the treasury. Each member attending will be asked to purchase a ticket for some friend who is not a member and bring him to the banquet as a guest.

LIEUT. W. H. GREENE MEETS SEYMOUR MEN IN FRANCE

Former Company K Officer Now in Charge of Ammunition Train With Army of Occupation.

Lieut. Willis H. Greene, of this city, who is with the American Army of the Occupation, writes that he has seen two Seymour men in France, one of them being Serg. J. B. Thomas.

"I have just received a large bundle of papers from my wife and note that Mr. (W. H.) Rights states that he met some of the men from Company K," Lieut. Greene writes. "As I am interested in that old Company it sounded very good to me. I noticed in our Stars and Stripes that the 38 Division had been ordered home but as our Company had been split up I don't suppose that very many of the men returned. I should like to have any address of any old member of the Co."

"On or about the last days of October I was transferred from the 38th Division to the 4th Division and assigned to the 4th Ammunition Train, and I have often wondered what became of the men and officers of the old 38th. In Conflans, France, near the City of Metz I was listening to the band of the 4th Engineers and a fellow came up and spoke and I was very much surprised for it was Buford Thomas of the Thomas Clothing Co., and he is a Quartermaster Supply Sergeant in the 4th Division. Later I met him in Esche Luxembourg, and from the souvenirs he has I wouldn't be surprised to see that he tries to start a new style in men's fall hats, (Bochs Helms)."

"My motorcycle driver and myself had just come in from a little trip in the country near Esche and we met a bunch of "doughboys" hiking along and one of them spoke to me, it was a boy named Hall from Seymour. You surely got to hand it to the "doughboys" coming up through Alsace Lorraine. We passed several wheeling all kinds of carts, baby carriages, etc., with their packs in them. But the best sight was in Lieser, Germany. I had been ordered to proceed with my company to Lieser and establish camp for the train. I had been here for about seven days and while I was down inspecting my trucks I heard an awful noise sounded like about a dozen locomotives coming down the road when suddenly around a corner came a great large German tractor with about 6 doughboys singing and waving their hats. I stopped them and they told me they had salvaged it along the road and were going up to join their outfit which was in Coblenz. There are no outfits that can compare with the doughboys."

"I must close now and get busy on my work, but first I must tell you that I am getting along fine and enjoying this the best possible considering the circumstances. My Captain was wounded on the Argonne and I am in command of the Company. I have 29 Nash Quad trucks, one Dodge touring car and four Harley Davidson motorcycles and as I am responsible for them they keep me pretty busy. We are out at all times of nights in all kinds of weather and we don't have any lights on any of the trucks or cycles and don't know what minute we may lose a truck or something and as I am charged up with something like $150,000.00 worth of ordnance you see I have something to worry about; but I don't think we shall be here more than six months more. I hope not for this "Watch on the Rhine" is not what its cracked up to be."

SEYMOUR MAN GIVES EVIDENCE His Testimony Will Interest Every Seymour Reader.

The value of local evidence is indisputable. It is the kind of evidence we accept as true because we know we can prove it for ourselves. There has been plenty of such evidence in the Seymour papers lately, and this straightforward testimony has established a confidence in the minds of Seymour people that will not be easily shaken.

Herman Meier, 312 W. Brown St., says: "I had backaches and pains across my loins. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage, sometimes being scanty and painful. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Meyer's Drug Store, relieved the backaches and made my kidneys act as they should."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Meier had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

MRS. LULU BOWERS DEAD.

Young Woman Was Brought Here from Columbus.

Mrs. Lulu Bowers, aged twenty-three years, wife of George Bowers, Columbus, died this morning about 1 o'clock at the home of her mother, Mrs. Martha DeWester, Glenlawn, where she was taken Tuesday by F. J. Voss. The funeral services will be conducted at the home in Glenlawn Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. C. P. Lanpher, pastor of the Nazarene church, officiating. Burial will be conducted at Riverview cemetery.

Mrs. Bowers was the daughter of Eliza and Martha Jones, and was born February 22, 1895, at Shields-town. Following her marriage to George Bowers, of this city, she remained a citizen of Seymour for some time. After moving to Columbus, Mrs. Bowers became the victim of a steadily growing case of tuberculosis. Recently her condition became critical and Tuesday F. J. Voss was asked to bring her to the home of her mother where she died within a few hours.

The deceased is survived by her mother, her husband, one daughter, Loretta, one son, Harold, four sisters, Mrs. Will Brewer, Indianapolis; Mrs. Clarence Stark, Seymour; Mrs. Charles Hays, Seymour; Mrs. Charles Leslie, Indianapolis; one brother, Samuel Jones Indianapolis, and one half brother, Taylor Jones, Indianapolis.

W. E. Everitt has sold his share in the Scottsburg Canning Company to D. M. Hougland and J. H. Hougland making Mr. Hougland the sole owners of the factory.

VALENTINE PARTY.

A very pretty valentine party was given Saturday evening by Miss Laura Hoevenor and Miss True Swengel at Miss Hoevenor's home. The rooms were decorated with valentine symbols. A feature of the evening was a valentine box and games suggestive of the valentine season were played. Refreshments were served. The table was decorated with hearts and valentine colors and small red hearts were given as favors.

The guests were Misses Thelma Alberring, Ruth Edwards, Georgia and Ina Cox, Muriel Niehaus, Bertha and Anna Schmidt, Gladys Heckman, Susie Swengel and Lula Hoevenor; Messrs. Fred Hoevenor, Chester Riley, George Edwards, Lawrence Schepman, Walter and Martin Pardieck, Chester Heckman, Otis Ruddick, Avis Vaughn, Robert Mann, Martin Hoevenor and Raymond Hoevenor.

ENTERTAIN FOR GUEST

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Greeman entertained a number of young people Tuesday evening at their home on East Second street in honor of their niece, Miss Nora Greeman, of Batesville, who is their guest. The evening was spent with progressive rook at the close of which a dainty luncheon was served.

The guests included beside the honor guest, Miss Greeman, Misses Edna Kasting, Grace Miller, Mabel and Edna Hodapp, Messrs. C. A. Hemmer, Edwin Schleter, Jess Hoover, and Garnet Greeman.

SIX O'CLOCK DINNER.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hyatt entertained at six o'clock dinner yesterday evening at their home, 121 South Broadway, for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Babb and son, Gilbert, and Mrs. James Bottorff, of Thomasboro, Ill. Other guests were Mrs. Adam Hannersperger, of Four Corners, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hannersperger, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Babb and Mrs. Bottorff left for their homes this morning after a week's visit with relatives here and at Four Corners.

HOLDER—BAHL.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Holder passed through Seymour today at noon enroute to Washington where they will visit relatives. Mr. Holder was discharged this week from the U. S. Navy and immediately afterward was married to Miss Vera Bahl, of Kansas City, Mo., who has been studying music in New York City. Mr. Holder, before enlisting in the navy, was employed at the Baltimore and Ohio accounting offices and is well known here.

CARD PARTY.

Miss Beatrice Grimes will be hostess to a card party to be given at her home Thursday evening.

Amethysts for Mourning.

Amethysts will be much worn in this country during the post-war period as mourning jewelry. Amethysts and jet are the most widely used mourning stones. The vogue of amethysts in the mourning was fixed after the Franco-Prussian war, when the gems became popular in France and Germany.

An abundance of good amethysts are found in the mountain region of the western United States. The best amethysts come from Cambay, in India, from Ceylon, Persia and Siberia. There are also large amethyst mines in Uruguay. The war, which curtailed imports of all gems to the United States, gave American amethysts a wider market than they ever had before.

Good Reason for Leaving.

"Have you had any experience in newspaper work?" said the editor of a large paper to an agitated little man who had applied for a job.

"I should just think so. I was editor of the Muddlesbury Mail until yesterday."

"And what made you leave the paper?"

"Well, it was like this: The chief of police down our way was supposed to be a dangerous man with a revolver, and so I tried to keep the right side of him. I wrote a paragraph about him, and said he was Muddlesbury's greatest asset. The intelligent compositor, of course, left out the 'ot' in 'asset,' and that is how it got into the paper."

Gas From Wheat Straw.

One of the scientists of the University of Saskatchewan, who has been experimenting for some time with the manufacture of gas from wheat straw, has been able, by a gas bag attachment of 300 cubic feet capacity, to run his motorcar with perfectly satisfactory results. It is estimated, says the Saskatchewan Herald, that a ton of straw will generate 11,000 to 12,000 cubic feet of gas and that 300 cubic feet of gas is equal to a gallon of gasoline, so that with this hitherto waste product on his hands the farmer will be able to run his car.

ATTACKED BY COON

Ferocious Animal Fastened Teeth Upon Aged Man's Hand.

A. M. Kenzie, 74 years of age, of Mitchell, S. D., started out to look at his traps, and at a certain point in the bluff observed a freshly dug hole. Dropping on his knees he proceeded to investigate, whereupon a large coon ferociously attacked him, fastening his teeth in Mr. Kenzie's hand.

He fought the animal as best he could, and finally succeeded in getting his knife out of his pocket. Opening the blade with his teeth he made an effort to cut the coon's throat, but the beast had so badly lacerated his arm and hand that it was almost impossible for the old gentleman to subdue him. Finally he succeeded in cutting the coon's windpipe, but not until the animal had torn the flesh from his hand and arm and completely shredded his coat sleeve up to the shoulder.

past through the existing liberty loan organization. They have pledged again their united support in order that the victory liberty loan bonds or notes may be distributed as widely as possible among the American people.

This furnished the first official notice of the date of the campaign and disposed of reports that an issue of notes would be floated mainly among bankers rather than the general public.

The quantity of these non-negotiable securities would be limited to probably $7,000,000,000, of which the Treasury now plans to issue only about $6,000,000,000.

The principal features of each of the four kinds of notes proposed would be as follows:

One class would be at a low rate of interest, possibly 4 per cent. and exempt from all Federal taxation; one would be at a comparatively high rate, possibly 5 per cent. and subject to all Federal taxes; a third would bear a moderate rate of in-

William and Mary Style

When Mary became Queen of England in 1689, her Dutch husband became King. Then Dutch influences became strongly felt, and finally they prevailed. The Dutch workmen copied Dutch styles, and made changes in old former pieces which finally produced a style and type of furniture which was called after the King and Queen—William and Mary.

This style was really a marker of the beginning of the Queen Anne period, but it has distinct features of its own which succeed in placing it in the separate classification which it takes.

Turned legs, and under-framing mark this style, while the "inverted bell or bowl" identifies it for a great many people. Arched tops on cabinets and mirrors were prevalent in the days of William and Mary, and the modern style carries such tops frequently.

Tired, Nervous Women What You Need is Vinol

The reason we recommend Vinol so strongly for such conditions is because it is a non-secret remedy which contains Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates and Glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a run-down system and replace weakness with strength.

Glasgow, Ky.
"I was suffering from a nervous breakdown—loss of flesh and poor appetite so I could hardly drag around and do the work for my family. My doctor prescribed Vinol. It not only made me well and strong but I have gained in weight."—Mrs. S. M. Gray.

For all run-down, nervous, anemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

A big story of the Colorado—the 2,000-mile river that dug the Grand Canyon, the Great Yellow-Dragon-That-Cannot Be-Harnessed of the Indian—when it burst its banks and threatened to turn the Imperial Valley of California into an inland sea.

"Stop the river; d—n the expense!" said President Marshall of the Overland Pacific to "Casey" Rickard, engineer.

"The River" is the story of that titanic struggle to balk the Colorado of its prey that thrilled the nation; of the man who saved the Imperial Valley and lost his heart to the girl who hated him.

"The River" is the story of Innes Hardin, whose hatred of the engineer turned to love as she watched him lead the battle against the Great Yellow Dragon for the lives and homes of the settlers.

"The River" is the thrilling story of that thrilling time.

"The River" is our new serial.

NERVOUS ENERGY
life's momentum, depends upon a well-nourished body. When strength is depleted and the body lacking in essential nourishment, the nerves are the first to suffer.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

WEAKNESS REMAINS LONG AFTER Influenza

Reports Show That Strength, Energy and Ambition Return Very Slowly to Grippe Patients.

After an attack of influenza, doctors advise that nature be assisted in its building-up process by the use of a good tonic—one that will not only put strength and endurance into the body, but will also help to build up and strengthen the run-down cells of the brain.

One of the most highly recommended remedies to put energy into both body and brain is Bio-feren—your physician knows the formula—it is printed below.

There's iron in Bio-feren—the kind of iron that makes red blood corpuscles and creates vigor. There is lecithin also; probably the best brain invigorator known to science. Then there is good old reliable gentian, that brings back your lagging appetite.

There are other ingredients that help to promote good health, as you can see by reading this formula, not forgetting kolo, that great agent that puts the power of endurance into weak people.

Taken altogether Bio-feren is a splendid active tonic that will greatly help any weak, run-down person to regain normal strength, energy, ambition and endurance.

Bio-feren is sold by all reliable druggists and is inexpensive. For weakness after influenza patients are advised to take two tablets after each meal and one at bed time—seven a day, until health, strength and vigor are fully restored.

It will not fail to help you and if for any reason you are dissatisfied with results your druggist is authorized to return your money upon request—without any red tape of any kind.

Note to physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feren, it is printed on every package. Here it is: Lecithin; Calcium Glycero-phosphate; Iron Peptonate, Manganese Peptonate; Ext. Nux. Vomica; Powdered Gentian; Phe-nolphthalein; Oleoresin Capsicum; Kolo.

Branch struggled with himself, he swallowed hard, then said: "You can see now why I didn't go to a doctor; I did it—shot myself. You won't give me away?"

Norine seated herself weakly; she stared in bewilderment at the unhappy speaker. "Afraid? You, El Demonio! Why, you aren't afraid of anything!"

"Say! You don't believe all that stuff, do you? I'm afraid of my shadow and always have been. I'm not brave and never was. They told me I was going to die and it scared me so that I tried to end things quickly. I couldn't bear to die slowly, to know that I was dying by inches. But, Lord! it scared me even worse to go into battle. I was blind with fright all the time and I never got over it. Why, the sight of a gun gives me a chill, and I jump every time one goes off. Lord! how I've suffered! I went crazy at our first engagement—crazy with fear. I didn't know where I was, or what happened, or anything. Afterward, when they hailed me as a hero, I thought they were kidding, that everybody must know how frightened I was. After a time I saw that I'd fooled them, and that shamed me. Then—I had to keep it up or become ridiculous. But it nearly killed me."

It so happened that the president and well-nigh the entire provisional cabinet were in Cubitas. Leslie and Norine went directly to the former. He promptly sent for the minister of justice, who in turn gallantly put himself at Norine's disposal. In no time the news had spread and there was subdued excitement throughout the camp. Norine was between tears and laughter when she ran panting into Esteban's cabin, leaving Branch to wait outside.

At sight of her Esteban uttered a low cry of happiness. "Dearest! I've been lying in a stupor of delight. The world has become bright. I hear people laughing. What a change!"

"I've arranged everything! The president and his cabinet are coming to witness the ceremony."

Esteban poised upon his elbow, his face was a study. "What have you arranged?" he managed to inquire.

"Sh-h!" Norine laid a finger upon his lips. "The guest of the republic is to be married today."

"Norine! Oh, my dear—" quavered the sick man. "I can't let you do this mad thing. Think! I'm ready for the grave—"

"This will make you well. We're going away when the very next expedition arrives."

"I haven't the strength to refuse," Esteban murmured. "And yet, how can I leave Cuba? What right have I to accept happiness and leave Rosa—"

This was a subject which Norine dreaded, a question to which she knew no answer. She was not in a mood to discuss it, and made no attempt to do bare and whose brown calves were exposed through flapping rags. His breast was naked where thorns had tried to stay him; his beard, even his hair, were matted and unkempt, and the mud of many trails lay caked upon his garments.

It was O'Reilly!

Dumb with amazement, blind with tears, Norine found herself staring upward into his face, and heard him saying:

"I told you I would bring her home."

The next instant she lay upon his breast and sobs of joy were tearing at her.

The story of Rosa's rescue came slowly and in fragments, for the news of O'Reilly's return caused a sensation. His recital was interrupted many times. "As a matter of fact, our getaway was ridiculously easy," he said, "for we had luck at every turn—regular Irish luck. I made Morin independent for life, but it wasn't the money, it was Jacket who induced him to bring us clear to Turiguano. He landed us one night, this side of the Moron trocha. Since then we've waded swamps to our armpits, we've fought the jungle and chewed bark—but we're here." Johnnie heaved a deep sigh of relief.

"Where did you get the money to hire schooners and corrupt captains?" Branch inquired.

O'Reilly hesitated; he lowered his voice to a whisper. "We found the Varona treasure."

Norine uttered a cry. "Not Don Esteban's treasure?"

"Exactly. It was in the well where young Esteban told us it was."

Johnnie produced from his pocket a handful of coins.

Branch's eyes bulged, he touched a gold piece respectfully, weighed it carefully, then pressed it to his lips. He rubbed it against his cheeks and in his hair; he placed it between his teeth and bit it.

"It's real!" he cried. "Now let me look at the jewels."

"Rosa has them. She's wearing them on her back. Hunched backs are lucky, you know; hers is worth a fortune."

"Why, this beats the 'Arabian Nights!'" Norine gasped.

"It beats—" Branch paused, then wagged his head warningly at the girl. "I don't believe a word of it and you mustn't."

Then Johnnie told the story. When

Healthy Mothers Healthy Babies

Every true mother realizes the fact that her baby's health depends upon her own, that the very vitality of her child is influenced by her own physical condition. How important it is, therefore, to guard against any derangement of the female organs, which induce general weakness, nervousness, constant fatigue and utter inability to properly care for her child. Please remember, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and strength to thousands of such mothers.

Mitchell, Ind.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me so much during the time I was looking forward to the coming of my little one that I am recommending it to other expectant mothers. Before taking it, some days I suffered with neuralgia so badly that I thought I could not live, but after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was entirely relieved of neuralgia. I had gained in strength and was able to go around and do all my housework. My baby when 7 months old weighed 19 pounds and I feel better than I have for a long time. I never had any medicine do me so much good."—Mrs. PEARL MONYHAN, Mitchell, Ind.

Good health during and after maternity is a most important factor to both mother and child, and many letters have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., telling of health restored during this trying period by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

he had finished there was a long moment of silence. Then Norine quavered tremulously: "That boy! That blessed boy!"

"It's all too weirdly improbable," O'Reilly smiled, "but ask Rosa or Jacket—the boy is bursting to tell some one. He nearly died because he couldn't brag about it to Captain Morin, and there won't be any holding him now. I'm afraid he'll tip off the news about that treasure in spite of all my warnings. Those jewels are a temptation; I won't rest easy until they're safely locked up in some good vault. Now then, I've told you everything, but I'm dying for news. Tell me about yourselves, about Esteban. I expected to find him well. What ails him?"

"Oh, Johnnie!" Norine began. "He's very ill. He isn't getting well. Help me, Johnnie! Help me to get him home—"

"Of course I will. We'll take him and Rosa away where they can forget Cuba and all the misery it has caused them. We'll make him well—don't worry."

O'Reilly saw little of his sweetheart that day, for Norine promptly bore the girl off to her own quarters and there attended to her needs, the most pressing of which was clothing.

While O'Reilly was similarly engaged in making himself presentable, he and Branch talked earnestly, with the result that they repaired later to General Gomez. O'Reilly concluded by saying:

"I've done what I came to do, sir, but Miss Varona is badly shaken by all she has been through. She's very nervous and far from well. Esteban, too, isn't recovering."

General Gomez nodded. "Miss Evans declares he must have a change, and we have arranged to send him out of the country. His sister, poor child, should go, too."

"They should go at once," O'Reilly said, positively. "That's why we came to see you. Let us—Branch and me—take all three of them to the United States."

"But how? How can you take two women and a sick man—"

"We'll manage somehow," O'Reilly declared. "It isn't far across to the Bahama Banks. I'll agree to come back if you so desire."

Gomez shook his white head. "No! You came to find and save your fiancée, and you volunteered to serve with us while you were doing so. We have no desire to keep any man against his will. Some one must escort Miss Evans, who in our guest. Why not you two?"

"I was looking forward to an interesting ceremony this afternoon," Gomez went on. "Has your arrival changed the plans?"

"Oh no, sir!" O'Reilly said, quickly. "I'd like to make it doubly interesting, if Miss Varona will consent to such short notice."

"Bravo! You have a way of doing the unexpected. Why not? I don't think Miss Varona will have it in her heart to refuse you anything."

The old soldier was right. Rosa did not gainsay her lover, and toward sundown the city among the leaves witnessed an unaccustomed scene.

Rosa, very dainty in her borrowed nurse's uniform, was round-eyed, timid; she evoked much admiration, but when she was addressed as Senora O'Reilly she blushed to the roots of her hair and shrank close to her husband's side. Branch proved to be a happy choice as Esteban's proxy, for he relieved Norine's anxiety and smothered her apprehensions.

When Rosa and O'Reilly returned to Esteban's cabin they found Norine ahead of them. She was kneeling beside the sick man's hammock, and through the doorway came the low, intimate murmur of their voices. Rosa drew her husband away, whispering, happily:

"He will get well. God and that wonderful girl won't let him die."

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Albert Reed, of Co. B, 57th Inf., who has been stationed at Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark., has returned home having been discharged from service. He enlisted May 23, 1918. He is the son of Mrs. Susie Robbins, of this city.

George Gardner, Baltimore & Ohio detective, who was shot in the leg by a train rider several months ago, left this afternoon for Baltimore where he will receive treatment. He was accompanied by his father, J. T. Gardner. The young man is unable to walk without the aid of crutches and has suffered considerably with the wound.

Nothing definite has been done by the legislature relatives to the senate bill which provides that county commissioners may authorize the issuance of bonds where contractors and bondsmen fail to complete contracts. Considerable interest is manifested in the measure here because of the four uncompleted contracts which were awarded in 1916.

Mrs. Sarah Pfaffenberger, West McDonald street, has received a letter from her son, John Pfaffenberger who is a member of the 102nd Balloon Company in France. He stated that on December 6th, they had everything packed ready to leave for the United States but that the company had been broken up and he is now attending a Balloon School, and that it is uncertain when they will come home.

The Rev. F. A. Hayward, pastor of the First Baptist church, is conducting meetings at the Southwest Mission. Meetings are held each afternoon at 4 o'clock for the children and young people. At these meetings chalk talks and special subjects of interest to the children are discussed. Meetings are also held each evening at 7:45 when the pastor preaches on The Ten Commandments. These will be held each evening this week except this evening and Saturday.

Your Future

Depends upon what you make it. So long as you fail to prepare yourself for a better position you cannot advance.

The Seymour Business College is offering you the best chance you have ever had to get a thorough business and commercial training at its night school. The special term opens March 1 and will continue for five months.

You have already read about the

for this term. Your friends are going to take advantage of this plan because they realize its value to them.

If you do not prepare yourself you will be holding the same position next year while your friends are being promoted.

You decide to help yourself and we will train you.

If you do not know about this exceptional opportunity we offer for this course, ask us immediately about it. Delay means financial loss to you.
